

Please allow my house to remain a safe haven from the profanity and the nudity of the world. I carefully control the access levels allowed on my TV but if now fleeting material will be allowed how am I going to be able to filter the unwanted? For decades, it has been possible to bleep such matters out of TV & Radio so why it is not in spite great technological advances impossible to do so now? I understand that you want to clear up a backlog of complaints but this is the wrong solution. Lowering the standards that have worked for decades because some networks want to be lazy or worse want ratings due to “shock value” is the wrong solution. Give them clear standards, prosecute them for their flagrant violations and they will find they have always had a solution that works, what they have been doing for the last few decades.
